

Body Regeneration- European Style

Dr. Karl VanArsdale and the Nutrition West Clinic staff are dedicated to enabling people achieve and maintain optimum health and vitality at any age.

The Nutrition West Clinic platform for healing and regeneration is rare: They believe that de-aging starts from the inside out. Applying advanced European therapies, natural modalities, and cutting edge technologies, the clinic has achieved impressive results for two major groups of clients:

- Functional anti-aging. Men and women interested in maintaining or improving their levels of energy, stamina, flexibility, muscular strength, immunity to infections, and ability to overcome the negative effects of aging.
- People struggling with health issues that have not responded to conventional medical treatments. Victims of life threatening illnesses, accidents, strokes, environmental pollution, cancer, arthritis, impaired organs, diabetes, digestive disorders, chronic fatigue syndrome, and other debilitating diseases.

Nutrition West Clinic emphasizes cellular regeneration. The tools include targeted Nutraceuticals, advanced European therapies that strengthen organ and hormone support, and Karl's own bioformulas that promote the excretion of harmful microbes while boosting the body's hormone levels. He points out, "This combination is critical to align one's own homeostasis potential."

Rather than relying on the common medical practice of shocking one part of the body while attempting to correct another, Nutrition West applies natural methods for cleansing and strengthening the proper functioning of the major organs and systems. Improvements in energy, strength, flexibility, sleep patterns and digestion are usually discernible within weeks.

"Typically we unlock a swampy river of toxins, but then at a later stage, we see a clear blue ocean of increased energy and renewal," Karl notes. "Clients often comment that their skin and eyes become clearer and brighter, and their appearance seems more youthful."

Individualized six-month programs are designed to help each client accomplish his or her goals for a satisfying lifestyle. Each program is based on a review of the person's health history and an extensive analysis of key indicators often ignored by traditional practitioners.

By limiting their practice to a small, select group of discriminating take-charge clients, Karl and his staff are able to provide attentive supervision of each person's progress. Since Nutrition West Clinic is not restricted by traditional agencies, the full range of advanced scientific knowledge is available to help you attain new dimensions of health, vitality, and youthfulness.

To contact Dr. VanArsdale call: (520) 312-2718

Karl VanArsdale, NC, OHT, NAS,
ND (APP) - Founder and CEO of Nutrition
West Clinic

A nutrition counselor and specialist in colon and oxygen therapy, Karl has extensive training in other natural modalities and techniques. His knowledge of scientific advances and his insights into each client's needs are unique.

Celebrities across the United States and dignitaries from other countries have sought Karl's services. He has traveled to people's homes to administer extended treatments.

As a wounded healer who has triumphed over life-threatening illness, Karl knows the value of perseverance and hope. His compassion encourages and inspires clients to reach their personal goals.

Member, Coalition for Natural Health
(A national association protecting your Ninth Amendment rights to explore scientific advances in health care)

For your initial consultation call 520/312-2718